

Winslow Crossing

Berlin, New Jersey · From the mid $500s

Smart from the day you move in.

[COMMUNITY PHOTO: Winslow Crossing]

Some homes feel good. The best ones also make sense on paper. Winslow Crossing in Berlin gives you both, with a five-year property-tax abatement that keeps those early monthly numbers friendly while you settle in. South Jersey living that adds up.

This is a community built for real families and real schedules. An easy run to Route 73 and the South Jersey corridor, with Philadelphia within reach when you want the city. Quick move-in homes are available, so if your timeline is short, you have options here that you will not find everywhere.

The Homes

Two-story homes from 2,100 to 2,600 square feet, from the mid $500s. Energy-ready construction, with an optional in-law or extra suite when you need room for more than the immediate family. Featured plans are The Hudson and The Sterling.

WHY FAMILIES CHOOSE IT

- Five-year property-tax abatement on the early years
- Optional in-law or extra suite plus energy-ready construction
- Easy reach to Route 73, the South Jersey corridor, and Philadelphia, with quick move-in homes available
